

The State of Indiana has recently helped make our lives a little bit easier by having those who chose to be free of certain automated ph. lists by enlisting in a voluntary request to be listed as not wanting to be on certain lists that were available to users. This effort has made our lives and our health a lot better by causing less problems with digestion due to the fact that the bulk of these annoying calls were intruding during the diner hour. I hope that the current legeslation that you are going to consider dose nothing to abort or resind our efforts to return to a genteler time of days long gone by when the phone companies had our best interest at heart and protected our privacy with diligency. I feel that they have traded this trust for a policy off bartering us of like cattel to the highest bidder to enhance the profit sheets. Some how, some day this nonsense will destroy the people who feel they have the right to take advantage of there patrons to satisfy their greed. Respectfully,
GEORGE J FEDORKO